Town Wiped Out by Fire. Ashland, Wis., Nov. 7.—Ellen, a little village on the Omaha road twenty miles south of here, has been destroyed by fire. The village, which is without any fire protection, wiped this city for help, and engines were sent on a special train. The fire started in the mill of the Chicago Coal and Lumber company, which it completely destroyed, turning all the lumber piles and timbers and spreading to the houses of the village, rapidly enveloping the entire village in flames.

Missing Miss Coffin Found. New York, Nov. 7.—Miss Clara Josephine Coffin, the daughter of Edward W. Coffin of East Orange, N. J., who disappeared from her home on Tuesday night, has been found in Omaha, Neb., where she was staying with her cousin. Her father has received a telegram from Postmaster Crowe of Omaha announcing the girl's safe arrival there.

A Remarkable Experience

As Reported by Mr. L. S. Clapp of Deerfield, Who, in His Own Words, Recites the Particulars of a Most Miraculous Cure of Muscular Rheumatism.

He says: "I had rheumatism about me for a long time and for three months it was especially severe. I called three different doctors, each of whom pronounced it muscular rheumatism, but neither were able to give me any relief. My feet burned and were very sore and painful. The muscles in my legs were drawn up so that I was obliged to stop work and finally became unable to walk. I saw an advertisement of Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure. I bought and took two boxes according to directions, the result of which was so complete a cure from my ailments that I have not been troubled since, though that was several months ago. My experience certainly warrants me in recommending Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure for kidney and bladder troubles and for severe cases of rheumatism that always result therefrom."

"Most respectfully yours,"
